

DAVIES, DAVID THOMAS (1876 - 1962), dramatist

Name: David Thomas Davies
Date of birth: 1876
Date of death: 1962
Spouse: Jane Davies (née Davies)
Parent: Martha Davies (née Thomas)
Parent: Thomas Davies
Gender: Male
Occupation: dramatist
Area of activity: Literature and Writing; Performing Arts
Author: Huw Walters

Born 24 August 1876 at Nant-y-moel, Llandyfodwg, Glamorganshire, son of Thomas Davies and his wife Martha (née Thomas). He was educated at Gelli, Ystrad, Rhondda valley, and Thomas James's school, Llandysul, Cardiganshire. His father intended him for the ministry, but after graduating at the University College of Wales, Aberystwyth, in 1903, he became a teacher in the Central Foundation School, London. He served with the Royal Welsh Fusiliers in France during World War I, and in 1919 he was appointed an inspector of schools under the Ministry of Education and moved to live in Pontypridd. He retired in 1936 and moved to Porthcawl. He moved yet again to Swansea in 1954 where he died 7 July 1962. He was buried in Glyntaf cemetery, Pontypridd. He married Jane Davies at Trealaw, 29 July 1909 and they had one daughter.

D.T. Davies gained prominence as one of the Welsh social dramatists of the first half of the 20th c. He came into contact with John Oswald Francis while he was a student at Aberystwyth, and he had an opportunity to get to know contemporary English plays when he was a teacher in London. Ibsen's plays were popular in the London theatres and they provided a pattern for D.T. Davies and the new generation of Welsh dramatists like Robert Griffith Berry, J.O. Francis and William John Gruffydd. He wrote a number of full-length plays and many short plays : among his most important works are Ble ma fa? (1913), Ephraim Harris (1914), Y Pwyllgor (1920), Castell Martin (1920) and Pelenni Pitar (1925). He broke fresh ground with these plays by presenting a faithful portrayal and an honest evaluation of life. His works were very much in vogue during the 1920s when the Welsh drama movement was at its zenith in the valleys of south Wales and when drama companies and drama festivals were being established in the chapels and workers' institutes.

Author

Dr Huw Walters

Sources

Menna Davies, 'Traddodiad llenyddol y Rhondda', University of Wales Ph.D. thesis (Aberystwyth, 1981), 259-82

R.M. Jones, Llenyddiaeth Gymraeg 1902-1936 (Swansea 1987) (1987), 529-32

information from his daughter, Sara Anne Davies

see also David Jenkins (ed.), Erthyglau ac ysgrifau llenyddol Kate Roberts (Swansea 1978) (1978), 148-50

[Menna Davies in Hywel T. Edwards, ed., Cwm Rhondda (1995) (1995), 254-75]

Further Reading

Wikipedia Article: D. T. Davies

Additional Links

VIAF: 76084649

Wikidata: Q18535563

Published date: 2001

Article Copyright: <http://rightsstatements.org/page/InC/1.0/> and improve the site so that we can continue to acknowledge Welsh men and women who have made notable contributions to life in Wales and beyond.

Find out more on our sponsorship page.

